'FRISCO FAIR.

The Kilauea Cyclorama to be Moved to the Midwinter Fair-Other Pronosed Exhibits.

During his recent visit in San Francisco Minister Thurston was not idle, and as usual was engaged in pushing Hawaii to the front. Among other things he has secured from the directors of the Midwinter Fair a concession ister Blount, who has returned from allowing the exhibit of the Kilauea Hawaii, is justified in the remark that cyclorama and the exclusive right to "there will be a boom in the islands, exhibit and sell from the Pacific. This, which must enliven all branches of of course, will include Tahiti, Samoa business, as soon as certain matters now and other groups, the main exhibit in contemplation go through." The coming from Hawaii. The space chief matter to go through is the anestimated to be required, and which is nexation of the islands, so that Amerivirtually secured for the purpose, is an can law shall be extended over them acre and three quarters, or in and permanent peace and order shall round numbers 70,000 square feet. Mr. brought about there will surely be a Thurston has made application for this beom in Hawaii. space in his own name but proposes to turn it over to a stock company upon the lines of the Cyclorama Company as soon as one can be formed, first as- And he sald: "May I on your knowledge signing to the Cyclorama Company without charge sufficient space for them to locate the cytorama. The members of that company resident in Honolulu view this proposition with favor and will probably organize a new company very shortly to carry out Minister Thurston's ideas. These cannot be explained in detail in the scope of this article, but the exhibit he proposes to make would be divided into two entirely separate sections, one to confirm the propose of the propose of the properties of the sist of an exhibit by the Hawaiian Gov. Was Minister Stevens a common guy? ernment under the direction and control of the company and the other an exhibit by the company itself.

The following embodies the proposi tions advanced as the outlines of the Hawaiian exhibit, subject of course to future modifications:

First-An Hawaiian village, reproduced in toto on a plan similar to that so successful in the "Street in Cairo" at Chicago. This would include grass huts, fishing canoes, nets, household gods, calabashes and other utensils, gods, calabashes and other utensils, He drank ten drinks as reporters can, and the usual paraphernalia pertaining And he saw eight Blounts where one had sat to such places. Connected with it is And he couldn't but wonder where he was at to be a main exhibition hall and six or eight houses representing the Hawaiian style of architecture; a booth for selling Kona coffee and light refreshments, and booths for selling Hawaiian fans, mats, seed work, feather work. photos, etc. As additional attractions in the village Minister Thurston proposes to locate a pond therein, a hundred feet long or more, upon which may be seen one or more live Kanakas paddling native canoes, etc. It is also proposed to have several large tanks containing a live man eating shark and several other kinds of Hawaiian fish, and to send over four or five of the riding bullocks such as are used in Kona and elsewhere. These are some of the details of the items which can be put in the village to make it interest

The second proposition is for the Provisional Government to make an and was a faithful public servant. exhibit of its own from the Bishop Museum and elsewhere of historical relics, curiosities, etc., which otherwise could never be seen outside of the Islands. The company proposes to take charge of these articles at Honolulu, and at the same time of all other contributions or exhib ts from private to about 2000 per day. sources, and guarantee the safe return of all such as require to be returned; to bear all the expense of the necessary exhibition buildings and the ronning expenses during the progress of the Fair; to take charge of all shipments of fruit and island products which may be forwarded, and see that the same are properly cared for and placed on view; in a word, the company takes all the responsibility and does all the work. In return for this a small admission fee will be charged, as at Chicago, prob ably twenty-five cents.

Unless some such scheme as this is carried out Hawaii cannot be represented at the Fair, for neither the Government nor the community are able to bear the expense under existing conditions unless there is to be some direct Makaweli plantation, Kauai, were

In addition to the Hawaiian village it is proposed to exhibit a South Sea Island village, entirely separate from the Hawaiian one and made markedly distinct therefrom. A South Sea Island theatre has also been suggested as an attractive exhibit, in which native music, songs and dances would be into each of these attractions College, remunerate the company as the concession for selling coffee, curios, specimens, manufactures, photo been made to certain parties in Hono Claudine yesterday.
